Contravention

I, the above-named inspector, am of the opinion that you, being an employer, are contravening / have contravened the following statutory provisions in circumstances that make it likely that the contravention will continue or be repeated:

Section 2(1) of the Health and Safety at Work etc. Act 1974, and Regulations 11 and 22 of the Provision and Use of Work Equipment Regulations 1998 (PUWER).

The reasons for my said opinion are:

On 18 March 2026 an employee sustained serious injuries to the right hand while clearing a mis-rolled component from thread-rolling cell CR-TR-12 (Excelon EX-450). The fixed-guard interlock on the cell had been defeated, permitting access to dangerous moving parts (the rolling dies) while in motion. Examination of three further cells of the same type (the Excelon EX-class) found that their guard interlocks were similarly capable of being defeated, and that there was no effective system in place to prevent such defeat or to control the actuator keys by which it is achieved.

Schedule — steps required

You are required to remedy the said contraventions by taking the following measures:

1. Ensure that all thread-rolling cells of the CR-TR / Excelon EX class are so guarded and interlocked that access to dangerous parts while those parts are in motion is prevented (PUWER reg. 11).

2. Put in place and maintain an effective system to prevent the defeat or circumvention of guard interlocks, including the secure control of any interlock actuator keys (PUWER reg. 22).

3. Review and, where necessary, revise the suitability assessment and safe systems of work for the said equipment to address the foreseeable defeat of guards (PUWER reg. 5).
