Gross annual salary	£190,000

Section 8 – Type of claim

The claimant brings claims of: (a) unfair dismissal (section 94, Employment Rights Act 1996); (b) automatic unfair dismissal by reason of having made a protected disclosure (section 103A) and detriment (section 47B); and (c) in the alternative, a failure to follow a fair redundancy procedure.

Section 9 – Grounds of claim (summary)

1. The claimant was employed by the respondent from 4 March 2021 as Chief Revenue Officer. In August 2025 he disclosed to the respondent’s Audit Committee his concern that revenue on the Stratton Energy contract was being recognised up front rather than over the life of the contract, in breach of the respondent’s legal and accounting obligations. The claimant contends that disclosure was a protected disclosure.

2. On 6 November 2025 the respondent announced a reorganisation under which the claimant’s role was said to be redundant. The claimant contends that the principal reason, or a material influence on the decision to dismiss, was the protected disclosure, such that the dismissal was automatically unfair and/or he was subjected to a detriment.

3. Further or alternatively, the redundancy process was unfair in that the pool was artificially confined to the claimant and consultation was inadequate.

4. This claim is lodged on a protective basis to preserve the claimant’s position pending conclusion of settlement discussions between the parties. The claimant reserves the right to amend or withdraw it. The claimant seeks compensation, including a basic award, a compensatory award and (in respect of the protected-disclosure claims) uncapped losses and an award for injury to feelings.

Note (internal – not for filing): This draft ET1 is held by Whitfield Carter LLP for the respondent's file as a record of the claim threatened by the claimant's solicitors. It would be filed by the claimant, not the respondent.
