LEGAL DUE DILIGENCE REPORT

Project Ironvale — Stradbrook Thermal Limited

Prepared for Crestview Capital LLP by Whitfield Carter LLP · 28 November 2025 · STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

1. Scope and basis

This report summarises the findings of our legal due diligence review of Stradbrook Thermal Limited (the "Company") in connection with its proposed acquisition by a Crestview acquisition vehicle. Our review covered the materials made available in the electronic data room to 5.00 p.m. on 24 November 2025 and the Company's replies to our enquiries. This report is on a "red-flag" exception basis and is subject to the limitations set out in Appendix 1.

2. Corporate

The Company is duly incorporated and its statutory books appear complete and up to date. The issued share capital comprises 1,000,000 ordinary shares of £1.00 each, held as to 60% by the Founder Sellers and 40% by Camberwell Growth Capital LLP. We have verified clean title to the Shares. The articles contain pre-emption provisions which the Sellers will waive on the share transfer.

3. Key findings (red flags)

Ref	Issue	Risk	Recommendation
3.1	Customer concentration: Hollencroft Industrial Group plc (18% of revenue) to have change-of-control termination right	Medium	Seek consent to waiver or specific indemnity if not obtained pr
3.2	EU trademark application for "THERMACORE" subject to third-party opposition	Low	Monitor; UK registration unaffected.
3.3	Open HMRC enquiry into FY2023 R&D tax credit (£16,000).	Low	Tax covenant covers; advisers consider claim well-founded.
3.4	Environmental permit for degreasing line; two 2024 EA observations now closed.	Low	Confirm closure evidence on file (obtained).
3.5	Daniel Stradbrook service agreement (12 months' notice) to be replaced at completion.	Low	New contract signed at completion.
3.6	Northbank debenture over the Company's assets.	Low	Deed of release at completion.

4. Material contracts

Save for the Hollencroft change-of-control point (3.1), the Company's material customer and supplier contracts are on standard terms and contain no unusual provisions. No material contract is in default. The Company's standard terms of sale include an appropriately limited liability regime.

5. Employment and pensions

The Company employs 148 staff. Terms are documented and broadly market-standard. The Company operates a defined-contribution auto-enrolment pension scheme with no defined-benefit exposure. Two employees are on long-term sick leave; no live tribunal claims.

6. Litigation, real estate, IP and data protection

Other than the settled Northstar warranty matter and a small disputed-invoice claim (Reyland Components, £8,400), the Company is not engaged in litigation. The Northampton site is held on a 15-year lease (8 years unexpired) with no break in the next 3 years. IP comprises the THERMACORE marks and unregistered design rights; no infringement identified. Data-protection compliance is adequate, with a registered ICO notification and a documented policy.

7. Conclusion

Subject to the red-flag items above (all of which are addressed by the SPA warranty/indemnity package, the W&I; policy and the completion deliverables), we have not identified any matter that would, in our view, be a fundamental impediment to proceeding with the acquisition on the agreed terms.
